

Finding the MAC Address for your device

Google devices

Chromebook:

1. If you haven't yet, sign into your Chromebook.
2. At the bottom right, select the time.
3. Select the Wi-Fi network .
4. At the top of the box, select Information .
5. You'll see your Chromebook's IP address and IPv6 address. Your MAC address is labeled "Wi-Fi."

Chromecast:

During setup

1. From the "Connect to Wi-Fi" screen of the setup process, tap More  located in the top right corner.
2. Tap Show MAC Address.

After setup

1. Open the Google Home app .
2. Tap your Chromecast device  Settings .
3. Scroll down to the bottom and look for your MAC address.

Google Home:

1. Plug in your Google Home.
2. Download and open the Google Home app on your phone or tablet.
3. Select your Google Home from the list of nearby devices and press Set Up.
4. Accept the prompt to allow your phone to connect to the Google Home.
5. Enter the location of your Google Home and press Continue.
6. The wireless MAC address will be listed at the bottom right corner of the screen.

Google Home Mini:

1. Plug in your Google Home Mini
2. Download and open the Google Home app on your phone or tablet
3. Select your Google Home from the list of nearby devices and press [Set up].
4. When the set up asks what WiFi name to connect to, press the 3 dots in the upper right-hand corner
5. This will display the Mac Address